

Caregiver Position – North Edmonton

I am seeking a dedicated and reliable female caregiver to assist with my daily needs in a home environment with cats. I am physically disabled and require support with personal care, mobility assistance, and other daily tasks. This position involves providing help with stand pivot transfers to and from my wheelchair, meal preparation, and basic household tasks. Additionally, you will be responsible for caring for my cats, including feeding, grooming, giving them attention, and managing their special diet and medications.

The schedule for this position is Monday and Tuesday from 500 PM to 1000 PM, with the possibility of occasional additional shifts. Prior caregiving experience is not required, as a training day will be provided. You must be physically capable of performing transfers and comfortable working with cats. Strong communication skills in English are essential, and a valid drivers license is recommended but not mandatory.

The wage for the position will be discussed during the interview, and a probationary period will apply. A pay increase will be provided after the probationary period based on performance. If hired, you will be required to sign a contract.

Please do not apply if you are not serious, dependable, or comfortable with cats, as I do not want my time wasted. This role requires someone who is highly reliable, professional, and able to follow instructions precisely. You will need to be someone I can count on to provide consistent care and support, as well as give my cats the attention they need.
